

SHABTI

Shabti figurines, made from wood or stone, were often inscribed with spells. They were placed in ancient Egyptian tombs as servants to do any work that the dead person might be called upon to do in the afterlife.

